

MINIMUS ADAPTS TO NEW CARRY-ON LUGGAGE AMENDMENTS

TSA Revises Ban On Liquids, Aerosols And Gels

SEPTEMBER 25, 2006, Newbury Park, CA – The Transportation Security Administration has amended its ban on liquids, aerosols and gels in airline carry-on luggage. Effective Tuesday, September 26, travelers will be able to carry through security checkpoints travel-size toiletries (3 ounces or less) that fit comfortably into one, quart-size, clear plastic, zip-top bag.

At the checkpoint, travelers will be asked to remove the zip-top bag of toiletries and place it in a bin or on the conveyor belt, where it will be X-rayed separately. This will allow TSA security officers to more easily examine the declared items.

As the world leader in all things travel-sized and individual-sized, Minimus (www.minimus.biz) is committed to assisting travelers to meet these new TSA amendments. We offer the most comprehensive collection of travel-sized products available anywhere, and effective immediately, Minimus will offer a free, quart-size Ziploc bag with any purchase – and we'll pack the toiletries inside the bag as well.

And for those customers who wish to travel with more toiletries than the TSA allows, Minimus continues to offer the service of having travel-sized items delivered directly to their designated hotel or destination, so that they will be waiting for them upon their arrival. This circumvents the airline restrictions completely and allows them to have more space for packing in their luggage. Plus, as always, Minimus provides free shipping on all orders over $ 20.00 within the continental U.S.

According to Co-Founder Paul Shrater, “Minimus is absolutely committed to helping all air travelers through this often confusing situation, so that they can enjoy a more comfortable and convenient travel experience.”
